The National Defence Force (Narodna zaščita – NZ) operated in Slovenia during the period from 1947 until the establishment of the Free Territory of Trieste (FTT) in 1947. The NZ was divided into general, special and auxiliary units, and also included firefighters. The NZ was divided into two zones – Zone A and Zone B, which operated as part of the national border patrol at the time. The NZ clubs, which featured military units, were formed in early 1947.

In Koper, the Koper Border Police Station was established in 1947. Courses were introduced in the Koper border checkpoint, whose duties were carried out by the Maritime Milica Slovenia. The positions of the national border at maritime border were integrated into the Koper border police, who had taken over by the Port Commission. The maritime border crossing was organized as the form of a shield with an inscription “MARITIME POLICE”. The unit was also responsible for the transport and charitable aid of the population of the national maritime zone. As a result of the establishment of the Schengen Area, Slovenia became a full member of the Schengen Area in 2007, the Slovenian maritime police became the guardians of the sea border. The Slovenian maritime police is comprised of the maritime police station Koper, which is responsible for maritime border crossing, security of the national maritime zone, and international maritime navigation. The Task of the maritime police station is to control and secure the maritime border. The maritime police station is responsible for the occurrence of urgent events. The main tasks of the maritime police include the protection of Slovenia, the Port Commission, and the Port of Koper. The Port Commission is responsible for the occurrence of urgent events. The maritime police station is responsible for the occurrence of urgent events. The Port Commission is responsible for the occurrence of urgent events.
ties, my superiors and higher ranks, and orders given by the competent authorities, whereby I will always bear in mind security, law and order according to the Constitution, laws, rules and the tasks of superiors and official powers, and that I will keep them secretively and scientifically fulfil the service of public interest. So help me God! «

DURING THE TIME OF FRANZ JOSEPH I. (1850 – First World War)

The beginnings of the Slovenian police date back to 1850, when the Emperor of Austria, Emperor Franz Joseph I of Austria, issued an edict. It was the first time in the history of the Kingdom of Bohemia, etc., Apostolic King of Italy, that the Austrian authorities established a proper police force. The Emperor Franz Joseph appointed his brother, Count Rudolf Cvetko, as the first police commissioner.

The services were voluntary, and the gendarmes were paid a minimal salary. The general role of the gendarmes was to enforce the Emperor’s edicts, and to ensure that the population obeyed the rules and regulations.

The gendarmerie was a military force that was established to enforce the laws and regulations of the Emperor. The gendarmerie was established to ensure that the population obeyed the Emperor’s edicts, and to ensure that the population obeyed the rules and regulations.

The gendarmerie was a military force that was established to enforce the laws and regulations of the Emperor. The gendarmerie was established to ensure that the population obeyed the Emperor’s edicts, and to ensure that the population obeyed the rules and regulations.

THE KINGDOM OF SERBS, CROATS AND SLOVENES – YUGOSLAVIA (1918–1941)

After the end of the First World War and the collapse of the Austro-Hungarian Monarchy, the newly formed Kingdom of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes was established. The Kingdom of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes was a multinational state that included a number of ethnic groups, including Slovenes, Serbs, and Croats.

As the Kingdom of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes was established, the gendarmerie was transformed into the police force. The police force was established to enforce the laws and regulations of the King of Serbia, Alexander the First, and to ensure that the population obeyed the rules and regulations.

The police force was established to enforce the laws and regulations of the King of Serbia, Alexander the First, and to ensure that the population obeyed the rules and regulations.

THE KINGDOM OF ITALY AND THE JULIAN MARCH (1918–1941)

The Kingdom of Italy established the police force, which was known as the Carabinieri. The Carabinieri were established to enforce the laws and regulations of the Kingdom of Italy, and to ensure that the population obeyed the rules and regulations.

The Carabinieri were established to enforce the laws and regulations of the Kingdom of Italy, and to ensure that the population obeyed the rules and regulations.

THE SECOND WORLD WAR (1941–1945)

After the establishment of the Slovenian territory, the Kingdom of Italy established the police force, which was known as the Carabinieri. The Carabinieri were established to enforce the laws and regulations of the Kingdom of Italy, and to ensure that the population obeyed the rules and regulations.

The Carabinieri were established to enforce the laws and regulations of the Kingdom of Italy, and to ensure that the population obeyed the rules and regulations.

SOCIALIST YUGOSLAVIA (1945–1991)

On 8 May 1945, the Slovenian Government was formed in Ajdovščina, and the King of Yugoslavia was installed in the new country. The King of Yugoslavia was installed in the new country.

The King of Yugoslavia was installed in the new country.

INDEPENDENT SLOVENIA (1991–)

The Slovenian Police were established in 1991. The Slovenian Police were established in 1991.

The Slovenian Police were established in 1991.

The police service of Slovenia is a public organisation that is responsible for enforcing the laws and regulations of the State of Slovenia.

The police service of Slovenia is a public organisation that is responsible for enforcing the laws and regulations of the State of Slovenia.

The police service of Slovenia is a public organisation that is responsible for enforcing the laws and regulations of the State of Slovenia.